IRRIGATION PLAN GROWING MORE CERTAIN

Chamber of Commerce Endorse Contract and urge Citizens to Support Measure Several Thousand Acres Already Signed and Capital already Interested

At a meeting of the Tucumcari Chamber of Commerce held Thursday the plan of the Pajarita irrigation company to irrigate 25000 acres of land surrounding Tucumcari, was heartily endorsed, and the citizens of the city and county urged to do everything possible to further the project.

In a speech before the organization, G. W. Quin, who has been working on the matter, gave a resume of what had been accomplished towards making the plan a success and stated that already several thousand of the required acreage has been obtained. There will be required about 25000 acres of land signed before the project can be handled by the capitalists who have investigated the plan. Mr. Quin pointed out that if the landholders did not wish to sign over the required percent at this time, they might give him an option on the land at a reasonable price and he would endeavor to thus handle it. If the land holders sign at once, Mr. Quin believes that the plan will be in operation in another year as capital already is interested in the matter.

The chamber of commerce endorsed the contract as required by the promoters.

HISTORY OF COMPANY

The Pajarita irrigation company was formed in this city three years ago of local merchants the idea being to place under ditch the land surrounding Tucumcari. Since that time the scheme has had a hard fight until the present time when its success becomes daily more certain. If the project is completed a total of nearly a million dollars will be put into this section beside the enormous amount of money which will be brought here by visitors and others interested in the work. The first of the year an extension of time was granted the company by the state in view of the excellent progress already made on this gigantic undertaking. The expense has been borne by the local business men who are already out several thousand of dollars on the enterprise.

GARDENS CAN BE RAISED HERE

County Man Makes Money From Pump Irrigated Patch 150 Feet Square Hogs and Peanuts.

"A good garden has furnished my family half their living," writes one of the News Correspondents from the county. Last year this man made $250 from produce raised in his garden, a patch of ground 150 feet square, watered from a well 200 feet deep by means of a windmill.

Tomatoes, cucumbers and cantaloupes were his paying produce.

To avoid tomatoes growing only tops, he prunes back the plants when they grow too large thus cutting off sunlight. Many varieties have proven to be worthless in his hands, but he recommends the Ponderosa, and the June Pink. This last is the earliest of all and is the best paying variety, producing hundreds of pounds of fruit.

Cantaloupes have paid him well. He plants the Rockyford variety and the Hackensack. The latter is most satisfactory. The large netted melon also has been a success and many have preferred it on account of the flavor.

Red Bermuda sweet potatoes are successful here. One hill produces as many as fifty or sixty potatoes. A particular hill which this man opened showed 26 3-4 pounds of sweet potatoes. The sweet potatoes are planted in rows and are kept well watered.

Irish potatoes have not been a success with him. In instances near his home where water was furnished a field of Irish potatoes the yield was a complete failure, although there was no lack of irrigation.

PEANUTS AND HOGS PROFITABLE

On sandy soil one of the best paying crops is the Spanish peanut or goober. The crop requires little irrigation and is used to fatten hogs.

The cost of seed and cultivation per acre is not over ten dollars whereas corn will cost not less than sixty dollars for the same food equivalent. One acre of peanuts will fatten five head of hogs. The hogs are turned into the patch and soon become very fat and easily disposed of as he finds a ready market for them. In this way he does away with the expense of feeding the animals and the marketing of a cereal crop or maize.

A garden furnishes this man many varieties of vegetables and pays well.
